

Saskatchewan BEEF

SASKATCHEWAN has grown to become Canada's second largest beef producing province and like Alberta producers, Saskatchewan producers are a proud and independent ranching community. It's a province rich with history and interesting people making news. Up until now no media served Saskatchewan directly; rather it received token coverage through either national or regional distribution. Hence, a magazine they can call their own is long overdue.

A growing beef industry coupled with great history and people are the ingredients that will make Saskatchewan Beef Magazine an equal to its sister publication - Alberta Beef Magazine.
